NEW ZEALAND CONNECTION FOR SOCIETY FOR COACHING PSYCHOLOGY

The Society for Coaching Psychology (SCP) has recently announced that Sam Farmer, co-founder and current Chair of the newly formed New Zealand Coaching Psychology Special Interest Group (CPSIG), has accepted a post to become an Honorary Vice-President of the Society. Professionally, Sam works with a variety of organisations in the commercial and not-for-profit sectors. He also provides individually sought executive and professional coaching. In addition he is the Oceania Focal Point for Medecins Sans Frontiere's PsychoSocial Care Unit in Papua New Guinea.

On accepting this honorary post Sam said "I am privileged to be able to represent the New Zealand Coaching Psychology Special Interest Group in the role of Honorary Vice-President for the Society of Coaching Psychology". He added "In this position, I will do my best to ensure that the links between CPSIG and SCP continue to enhance the professional development opportunities available for NZ psychologists interested in coaching. At the same time, we at the CPSIG look forward to increasing our contribution to the international coaching psychology field through our relationship with the SCP".

Prof Stephen Palmer, Honorary President of the Society said "Recently I was fortunate enough to attend the inaugural meeting held in Auckland of the New Zealand Coaching Psychology Special Interest Group. Sam Farmer's appointment as a Honorary Vice President of The Society is another exciting international development in the field of coaching psychology".

Chair of the SCP, Dr Siobhain O'Riordan, commented "We are delighted to welcome Sam Farmer to his new role as an Honorary Vice President and also look forward to further establishing our links with the New Zealand CPSIG".
